Too Hot for Comfort

All you have to do to really be sure it's summer is to take a look outside at that clear blue sky and check the thermometer to see how hot it's getting.

The weather and the whole personality of summertime make you want to go out and enjoy yourself. Think how great it would be to spend the summer zipping around in a new convertible with the top down—or maybe a trim little power-boat would be the thing for the hot months ahead.

There are all sorts of things to do with your money this summer—a new color TV, that family vacation. It might be a swell time to add air conditioning to the house or maybe redecorate the place completely.

Hold on a minute though. Before you get all carried away with big ideas for summer, take a good close look at another thermometer—the one that tells you what your "credit temperature" is.

The luxuries of life are great and everyone would like to be able to enjoy more of them. But when you start reaching for too many luxuries by way of the "no money down, easy payment" route, you're asking for trouble.

As your expenditures each month increase, you come closer and closer to the danger zone on your financial thermometer.

Once you're in the danger zone it takes only a slight increase in financial pressures to burst your credit thermometer and you, along with your economic security and credit standing, are shattered.

Before you indulge yourself or your family in too many of life's luxuries, take a long, hard look at your credit thermometer. If your credit temperature has gotten to the point of being a little too warm for comfortable living, don't put any additional fuel on the fire. Let things cool off financially before you throw another log on the fire. A moderate temperature always makes living more comfortable. (AFPS)

CHAPLAIN'S CORNER

by Chaplain T. E. Sidebotham,
LCDR CHC USNR

WANTED: An honest person who admits he cannot "hack it" without help from God. A man or woman who, in spite of sarcastic comments from those around him, is not ashamed to be a Christian; to attend divine services, to make the time in a busy schedule to read the Bible and pray. One who keeps Christianity in his routine and who does not yield to lower standards that compromise the conscience and cause the weak to fall.

IMMEDIATE AWARD: God's present policy is "Them that honor me I will honor" (1 Samuel 2:30).

FUTURE DIVIDEND: "Well done, thou good and faithful servant...enter thou into the joy of the Lord." (Matthew 25:21).

From the Pen of Harry Miller

Say naught of another you'd not say to his face;
 To do so invites certain ruin
 and disgrace
 Since you thereby erode the esteem and respect
 Of your listeners and others who will rightly suspect
 That you'll speak of them, too,
 in a similar vein
 And ne'er merit their trust and friendship again!

ADMIRAL DESIGNATE

Captain Faucett has been on active duty with the U.S. Navy since January 1943, when he completed his internship at the Naval Hospital, Great Lakes, Illinois. He received his M.D. from the Indiana University School of Medicine, Indianapolis, Indiana in 1942 after previously earning his B.S. degree from Indiana University, and the B.A. degree from Earlham College, Richmond, Ind.

Captain Faucett served as Senior Medical Officer of the V-12 Unit of the University of Oklahoma at Norman, Oklahoma, and as Assistant Medical Officer, Naval Training Center, Farragut, Idaho. After completion of Field Medical School, Camp Pendleton, he was assigned to the Second Marine Division and participated in the Marianas and Okinawan Campaigns.

Captain Faucett completed residency training in internal medicine at the Naval Hospital, San Diego, California and the University of Pennsylvania's Post Graduate School of Medicine at Philadelphia. He was subsequently assigned to the Internal Medicine Service at the Naval Hospital at San Diego, thence to the USS NEREUS (AS-17) as Senior Medical officer and later to Submarine Squadron FIVE. After tours of duty at the Deep Sea Diving School, Submarine School, New London, and the Medical Research Laboratory where he participated in "Operation Hideout," as the Commanding Officer of the Volunteer Group, he completed assignments with Submarine Squadron FIVE and at the Naval Hospital, San Diego where he was Director of the Residency Training Program in Internal Medicine. Then followed tours of duty as Chief of Medicine and Director of the Intern Training Program at the Naval Hospital, Yokosuka, Japan. He has served at St. Albans since October 1965, first as Executive Officer and Chief of Outpatient Services, then as C.O.

Captain Faucett is a member of the American College of Physicians, the Military Surgeons of America, the American Medical Association, and the Indiana State Medical Society.

He is married to the former Elizabeth Carpenter and they currently make their home at the Commanding Officer's Residence at St. Albans Naval Hospital.

Captain Faucett has often appeared in prior issue of this newspaper congratulating members of his command on their promotions. It is now our pleasure to congratulate Captain Faucett on his own selection for promotion to flag rank.

YOCs AT ST. ALBANS

The Navy does more than defend the American Society of which it is a part. Often — (more often than many people know,) it can help the society in other ways.

An example of how St. Albans helps certain young people and also itself to do its work more efficiently is in its use of Yocs this summer.

Yocs is the abbreviation for the youngsters of the Youth Opportunity Campaign. St. Albans now has 19 of them serving throughout the hospital, 15 boys and 4 girls. All are at least 16 years old and most of them are high school students.

The Youth Opportunity Campaign is a program for the summer employment of financially or educationally disadvantaged youth. Members of the Youth Opportunity Campaign work for the hospital full time and are paid for their work. The tasks they do, to mention some of the most common ones are; answering telephones, typing, filing, working in laboratories, wards, in food service and maintenance, and taking care of our laboratory animals. Their efforts relieve our professional and medical staff of the necessity of doing many non-professional, non-medical tasks, and this in turn increases the efficiency of the hospital.

One of our Yocs is Moses Vega, 16, who will be a senior when he returns to High School in September. He told this reporter that he was interested in English and the Humanities, which statement is quite easy to believe as Moses has an outstanding facility and skill in the use of language. His precise, well-enunciated and grammatical sentences are of a standard usually found only in professional announcers.

Mr. Vega is planning to go to college. He was selected for the College Discovery and Development Program of the City University. To go to College, however, takes money and Moses' father, a cabinetmaker, has been ill of late and unable to work steadily. This therefore is not by any means the first summer that Moses has worked—he has been holding various jobs after school and during the summer since he was 14 years old.

Vega said that he will save as much of the money he earns working at St. Albans this summer as he can and he confidently expects to have more in the bank than he has ever had before, although he added wryly, with college tuition being what it is these days he will of course need still more.

Moses Vega works in archives. He said he likes his work there, especially talking

VISITORS

Patients here at St. Albans have been fortunate in having a large number of popular and distinguished visitors lately. The past months have seen the arrival of show business personalities, sports figures, and yes, even Playboy Club Bunnies.

"Spider" Lockhart of the New York Giants, and Pat Summerall, the sportscaster, paid a visit to the orthopedic wards and talked football with the patients, most of whom seemed confident that the Giants would win the series this year.

From show business, Irving Jacobson and Bernice Massey of the cast of the Pulitzer Prize-winning musical, "Man of La Mancha" were our guests. They entertained patients with some songs, a number from the show, stories and talk.

Mr. Jacobson plays Sancho Panza, reluctant squire to Don Quixote, the legendary but addled knight, while Miss Massey is the kitchen maid whom Don Quixote insists on treating as a Princess despite her protests. The two presented a scene from the show that was much appreciated by the patients.

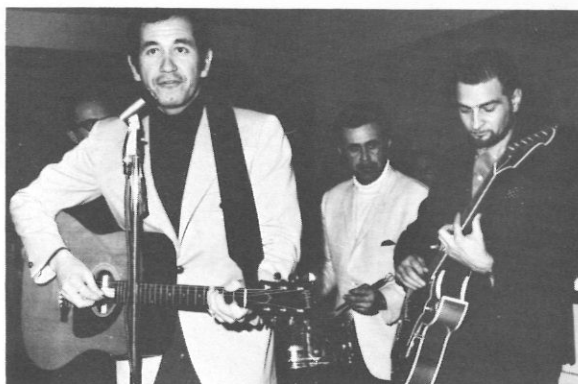

Patty Duke, of the Patty Duke Television Show and the Twentieth Century Fox Movie, "Valley of the Dolls," visited our wards and talked to patients.

Orson Bean, of "To Tell the Truth," and last in the Broadway musical, "Ilya Darling," was also our guest. Mr. Bean circulated through the wards and chatted with the patients.

Trini Lopez and his Combo visited, played a medley of songs and invited the patients to sing along. "Michael Row the Boat Ashore," "Cindy," "Lemon Tree," and "If I had a Hammer," had the wards swinging. Trini also played his latest record release, "Taking a Mental Journey."

Mrs. Kae Hayes, author of the cartoon book, "Military Misery," came to St. Albans to autograph and give away some 500 copies of her book. However, since 500 books are a big load for one woman to carry, she brought along some help in the shape of (and that is really the right word) three Bunnies from the New York Playboy Club. Of course, most of the patients were too engrossed in the book they received to even notice the young ladies who were passing them out, right?

All our visitors, in their comments, seemed to agree on two things—that morale was high and their visits were much appreciated.

YOCs

to and dealing with people, in person and over the telephone.

Another of our Yocs is Doris Walker, 18. Her summer job at St. Albans is her first regular employment experience. Doris is taking a commercial course at a local High School and hopes to go on to study business when she graduates. She is working in the Histopathology Laboratory where she types labels for slides and exhibits, answers the telephone, and sometimes helps the technicians and medical staff with the equipment. Doris will use some of the money she is earning to buy the typewriter she needs to pursue her studies.

Moses and Doris are two typical members of the Youth Opportunity Campaign. For some of the Yocs, their summer jobs at St. Albans are their very first exposure to a regular work situation. To all however, the money that they are earning here is an important part of their plans for the future.

Air Force Reservists Train at St. Albans

A detachment of 10 officers and 40 enlisted men from the 34th Medical Service Squadron of the U.S. Air Force commanded by Lt. Col. Paul S. Metzger, with Major Ethel Underwood, Squadron Administrative nurse, arrived at St. Albans on July 15th for their annual tour of active duty.

Four doctors and six nurses comprise the commissioned ranks of the detachment while the bulk of the 40 enlisted men are Hospital Corpsmen of the Air Force Active Reserve.

The medical personnel of this detachment, whose primary mission is to train for the upgrading of their skills, have been assigned to many branches of the hospital, helping out in a wide variety of wards and services. Many of the Corpsmen of the detachment have attended medical technical schools but have had only limited hospital clinical experience. In addition to working in the hospital, the detachment is also conducting classes for its own members in conjunction with the St. Albans Department of Educational Services.

Some of the newly assigned airmen needed time to adjust when confronted with the severely wounded and injured, for the first time, but met the demands for the first time, but met the demands of their medical tasks and performed their duties with efficiency and compassion.

Major Hazel L. Williams, one of the nurses of the Squadron stated that she and all the other members of the unit were most favorably impressed with the cooperation, support, and facilities of St. Albans.

One piece of new special equipment which most members of the detachment saw in use for the first time was the circular electric bed. This device enables the attending doctor, nurse, or corpsman to move the patient without touching him. Its electric power can shift the patient to a wider variety of positions than is possible in a bed which is cranked by hand and perhaps most importantly, its powered operation reduces the patient's pain when such a shift of position becomes necessary.

The civilian occupations of the 34th Medical Squadron range through a broad spectrum of jobs, such as Chief of Medical Services for the Head Start Program and a travelling salesman whose sales territory is all of Europe, no less.

The work of these Air Force Reservists is much appreciated and has won praise throughout our hospital.

Waves Mark 26th Birthday

July 30th, 1968, was the Twenty-Sixth Anniversary of the founding of the Corps of WAVES by Act of Congress.

The WAVES (Women Accepted for Emergency Service) were, as their name implies, established to release men for sea duty on a temporary basis during the war but proved so invaluable that they were retained by the Navy after the war. Through the years the range and complexity of the tasks they undertake have steadily increased and they have become an indispensable part of the Navy.

It is a pleasure to congratulate them on their special day and to wish them all a HAPPY BIRTHDAY.

Re-enlistment

HM3 Gary L. Anderson was re-enlisted for six years by Capt. Faucett on 4 June. Anderson, who is assigned to Special Services, arrived for duty at St. Albans last October after serving with the Marines in Vietnam. Gary hails from Stoneboro, Pennsylvania, and originally joined the Navy in 1965. Also present at the ceremony was LTJG G. O. McCracken, who until his recent transfer was St. Albans' Special Services Officer.

Increase your earning power by taking advantage of the off-duty educational opportunities available to you.

Red Cross Corner

BY MARGO CLARK

The beginning of summer always brings with it the desire to greet the great outdoors with picnics, sports and games. Well, on June 18, the first picnic for patients was held in the area outside the Red Cross Lounge for patients on C1, D1, C2, and D2. The patients did the preparing of the charcoal-broiled hamburgers and hot dogs, which were simply delicious!! The Food Service Department provided the bread, potato salad, baked beans, relish plate, punch, ice cream and cookies, besides furnishing the necessary meats for the charcoal broiling. Both wheel chair and ambulatory patients attended the affair. There was music in the air. Soon we hope to have a ramp out the back door of the lounge—some more chairs and an umbrella. By the way the "cooks" proved to be quite the "Backyard Chefs."

Wedding bells rang for Red Cross Recreation Staff member Miss Looney on June 13. Now Mrs. Clark, she will remain on the staff at Naval Hospital, St. Albans.

SAINTS IN THIRD PLACE . . .

St. Albans' softball team, the Saints, is in third place in the Interservice League with a record of four wins and three losses. Our nine has lost some well-played, close games which they might have won had the breaks gone their way. Playing the Coast Guard of New York, the Saints lost, five to four. We were leading at the end of the fifth but a Coast Guard rally in the sixth cancelled out our four to two lead with a three-bagger. The Coast Guard brought in their winning run in the seventh. The Saints other defeats were at the hands of Coast Guard Supply of Brooklyn, four to nothing, and Naval Air Station, eight to three. Shova, of the Coast Guard Supply team pitched 12 strikeouts, gave up no walks, and scattered five hits while his intrepid teammates collected four runs and 9 hits from our pitching.

The Saints power hitters are HM3 Fred Krans with eight hits, a high for the Military League competition, and HM3 Johnnie Topper, who is batting a cool .500.

Lieutenant Frank Trefny is coaching the Saints for the Third Naval District Tournament, set for the week of August fifth at the Naval Air Station, Brooklyn. The Saints can take it this year, the Lieutenant says optimistically.

— GOLF —

Golf Tourney at Bethpage Park . . .

Our golf tourney got off to its first match swimmingly. On June twelfth, 16 staunch golfers teed off at Bethpage Park to inaugurate this year's season. Unfortunately the sky was overcast as the groups left the first tee and by the time they reached the third hole it began to rain in earnest and the rain continued for the rest of the round. Despite the weather, some fairly good scores were registered. Dr. Mayne carded an 84 for the low gross honors and Marine Sergeant Herbie Dressen was just one stroke off the pace. Dr. Aaron, shooting a 106 with a 33 point handicap took the low net title. The runner up was Earl Dickson who made an adjusted score of 74. Doctors Mayne and Aaron were the winners of the longest Drive and the nearest to the pin contests.

During our second golf outing 16 players started at 11 A.M. at Bethpage's Red course and had the good fortune to enjoy perfect golfing weather throughout their play.

CS1 Ray Haulk got off a beautiful shot that stopped just about ten feet from the pin at the fourth hole, giving him honors in the nearest to the pin category. Marine Sergeant Dressen not only took low gross with a 79 but also won the longest drive with his beautiful 270 yard push which nosed out Dr. Doohan's shot by about 30 yards. Dr. Miller copped the low net title with an adjusted handicap score of 69.

Six of our golfers entered the Third Naval District Golf Tournament at Bethpage Park on July 22nd. Surviving the cutoff after the first days play were HM3 Kearns with an 87 in the Open Division and Dr. Doohan and Ray Haulk in the Senior Group, both of whom scored 82's. In the final rounds played the next day, Kearns was eliminated but Dr. Doohan with an 81, and Ray Haulk with an 82, qualified for the regional playoff to be held at the Naval Air Station, Patuxent River, Maryland, on August 12-16.

Special Services is arranging a Hospital Championship Invitational Golf Tournament sometime in September. Details will be published at a later date.

— TENNIS —

Kupperion and Shilling Win Doubles —

Joe Kupperion and Guy Shilling of the hospital, after losing individually in the Third Naval District's Tennis Competition, teamed up to take top honors in the doubles. Their win sent them to the Regional tourney at Newport, Rhode Island as our District representatives.

Special Services expects to arrange a tennis tournament in the latter part of August.

— BASEBALL TRIPS —

The New York Yankees have made arrangements with Special Services to enable the staff and patients of St. Albans to attend their home games. A schedule of these games has been distributed to all departments of the hospital. If you are interested in attending on any of the dates on the schedule, please contact Special Services on Extension 544.

These baseball excursions have proven to be popular with both staff and patients.

— BASKETBALL —

The basketball season will soon be upon us and St. Albans expects to field a fine hoop team this year. Despite the fact that many of last year's squad have left, the players that remain and the new talent coming aboard give us good prospects for a fine season.

Staff personnel interested in trying out for the basketball squad are requested to contact the Special Services Division after Labor Day for details.

Arrangements are being made for our team to participate in the Interservice Basketball League.

Educationally disadvantaged veterans now receive educational allowances under the new GI Bill to complete high school or take refresher courses without diminishing their eligibility for college education or other training.

THE OUTDOOR LIFE

Attention all staff and patient campers, nature lovers, bird watchers, and those who merely wish to get away from it all for awhile. A wide variety of camping equipment, such as tents, stoves, food lockers and coolers, sleeping bags, and even an auto trailer to pack it all into is now available on a check-out basis from Special Services. This equipment will be issued on a first-come, first-served basis. A $10.00 deposit will be required for checking out a trailer. This deposit will be refunded when the trailer is returned in satisfactory condition.
